THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 6, 1862

Recognition of the Southern Confederacy

Much speculation seems rife among the people of this Coast especially, as well as our Eastern friends, relative to the probable recognition of the Southern Confederacy by France and England and the results that will follow therefrom. We have heard many predictions and read many long articles from various writers upon this question, some of which bore evident marks of sound intelligent reasoning and well digested reflection, but a large majority of those who have undertaken to tell what is to transpire in the future history of this nation or make predictions regarding the ultimate end of the great rebellion, are to us but superficial thinkers or half matured prophets. We have also noticed that each writer invariably follows the spontaneous impulse of his own personal feelings and makes predictions or pronounces results just as he would have them transpire, without seeming to realize the fact that he is but a small, very small personage in the great tragedy which is now being enacted to the wonder and amazement of the whole world. Many seem to forget that at this moment the concentrated thought, reflection and judgment of the combined wisdom and experience of a great nation of people, acknowledged by all as superior in mental as well as physical attainments, is centered upon the great question involving its destiny and at work upon the great problem of its future existence. Never since the world began has mankind been so deeply concerned in matters of national life as at the present moment. Upon the final results of the present struggles of this nation depend the future destiny of every human being born upon the face of this earth for all time to come. The critical period in the world's history has arrived in which must be decided the vital question of freedom and self government or despotism and servitude,—whether all men are born free and equal, or not,—whether man is capable of self government, or not,—whether the few shall rule the many or not,—whether the God of Heaven foreordained his creatures to have a King on earth to rule over them, or not? It is to this God alone that we look for an answer, and not to the action of England or France, or both combined, or any other man. It is true that should England and France recognize the rebel confederacy, their action will tell with great weight upon the contest at issue, but we are far from believing that it will be a decisive answer to these questions. That it will prolong the decision there is no question, perhaps for months, perhaps for years, but we still have an abiding confidence, yea more, a religious faith that Omnipotent Jehovah, the great God of battles, who has guided, protected and fostered this great nation from its infancy to the present day, has not yet forsaken it or withdrawn his favor,—that He will not yet let its star go down in the blackness of despair, shame and disgrace, forever. No never.

We acknowledge with fear, shame and sorrow that our beloved country is in danger. A civil war has desolated its bright land and the homes of our fathers for 18 months. The world has never before witnessed such a desolation and heart-rending aspect. The rebellion has assumed fearful proportions and threatens still greater horrors and desolation. Our Government has expended millions upon millions of treasure, and thousands upon thousands of our best and truest friends have drenched the land with their blood, and still the contest is not ended,—we fear but just begun,—if a recognition takes place as indicated. But at such a time, with all the dangers of our position, present and future, shall we falter and give way,—shall we cease our exertions to preserve our country and our nationality? Of all other times, now is the one in which we should stand firm and united,—now is the time that all good men who are willing to lay down their lives and offer up their means to sustain the Constitution and laws under which they have lived and prospered, should unite and stand shoulder to shoulder in the great contest for freedom and self government. Wisdom requires that the country in this crisis, should have the strength and support of every one of her patriotic children, and that that strength and support be made available. Let our motto still be, "Union, Strength and Liberty,"—to which we pledge our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor to maintain till the war is ended in honor and glory, till every State is restored to the Union and the Constitution, and until our glorious old flag with every star in undimmed splendor shall proudly float over a united and free people.

THE UNION AND THE REBEL ARMIES.—The railroad bridge at Harper's Ferry is finished. It is credibly stated that the loss to their army since its leaving Richmond to attack Pope, and including their defeat at Antietam, is not less than sixty thousand in killed, wounded, prisoners and deserters. From various sources we have assurances that the stampede of deserters is enormous—five thousand were estimated to be in Winchester at one time.—Baltimore Clipper.

Eastern News

NEW YORK, October 2[illegible].—In [illegible] the Washington Republic [illegible] of the West [illegible] McClellan be made Commander in Chief.

The Philadelphia Press contains a hint that General Banks is [illegible] expedition to the coast of Texas. General McClernand's expedition, it says, after [illegible] the Mississippi [illegible] General Hunter [illegible] the present absence of General Banks.

A Herald [illegible] since the capture of the [illegible] very opportunity [illegible] and Humphreys [illegible] last night.

The Times' [illegible] says McClellan was [illegible] moved his head quarters to Berlin, a small town on the Virginia side of the Potomac [illegible] Banks.

The same correspondent says the testimony taken before the Military Court exonerates Colonel Miles from the imputation of having betrayed his command into the hands of the enemy.

The following is from the Herald's account of the battle on the Charleston and Savannah Railroad, referred to in Beauregard's dispatch telegraphed a few days since. The Federal troops left Hilton Head on the night of the 21st of October and were conveyed in fifteen gun boats and war steamers to McKay's Point at the confluence of the Pocotaligo and Broad rivers. The objects of the movement were to make a complete reconnoissance of Broad river and its tributaries, to test the practicability and safety with which a landing could be effected, to learn the strength of the enemy on the main land guarding the Charleston and Savannah Railroad, and to accomplish as much destruction on the railroad as could be done in a single day. In this attempt our forces were victorious. Having met the enemy in large numbers they drove them across the Pocotaligo river. Our loss, however, was very severe. The Federal forces were commanded by Brigadier General Brannan, the rebels by Colonel Wilkes until our arrival at Pocotaligo Bridge, when Beauregard, who had just arrived from Charleston, commanded in person. As fresh troops were rapidly arriving from Charleston to reinforce the rebels our troops were withdrawn in fine order.—The buildings at Mackay's Point which had been occupied by the rebel pickets, were destroyed before the Federals left. Our loss was 15 killed, 106 wounded and 2 missing.

WASHINGTON, October 29.—The Navy Department has received information that the United States forces in the Gulf have destroyed the rebel salt works at St. Andrew's and St. Joseph's bays, both capable of making four hundred bushels per day.

Refugees who have reached the United States bark Kingfisher on the coast of Florida, report that the late destruction of the salt works at St. Joseph Bay, Florida by the Federals, was a heavy blow to the rebels, and created great excitement throughout Georgia and Florida. These works had been the main source which these States relied on for supplies of salt for the winter's provisions. It is said it was a greater injury to the rebel cause than if we had captured twenty thousand of their troops.

The following has been received at head quarters:

Colonel Boyd reports further successes in General Davidson's southern district (Missouri.) On the 27th Colonel Searls, with a detachment of four regiments and one section of artillery, attacked fifteen hundred rebels at Putnam's Ferry, killed several and took forty prisoners. (Signed) CURTIS.

FAIRFAX COURT HOUSE, October 28.—Scouts report a small force of rebel cavalry and infantry at Warrenton, with pickets at New Baltimore, and a force of three hundred infantry, and the same number of cavalry at Warrenton Junction. Reinforcements were being sent to Stonewall Jackson in the Valley.

A deserter from the Tenth Georgia regiment reports twenty thousand troops at Gordonsville with a large wagon train. There were also five thousand at Richmond, engaged in building fortifications four miles north of the city. He also says that when he left, two infantry regiments at Culpepper had orders to march via Flint Hill to reinforce Jackson.

JACKSON, Tenn., Oct. 28th.—The Second Illinois Cavalry drove Price's pickets from Grand Junction yesterday and now hold the place. The troops at this place and Bolivar have been under marching orders for two days, but probably will not move at present.

CAIRO, Oct. 27th.—An officer who has arrived from Grant's headquarters, reports that the rebels were massing their forces nine miles below Grand Junction, Tenn., on Sunday.

Gunboats on Sunday broke up a rebel camp near Caseyville and took thirty prisoners.

A dispatch from Gen. Davis, Columbus, Ky., says: An expedition to Clarkson, Mo., thirty four miles from New Madrid, has been entirely successful in dispersing the guerrillas, killing ten, mortally wounding two, capturing one colonel, one captain, three lieutenants, one hundred and seventeen men, several stand of arms, fifty five horses and mules, and a large quantity of ammunition, burning their magazine and barracks, and blowing up the whole concern. Our loss was nothing.

NEW YORK, October 29th.—The Harper's Ferry correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, under date of October 27th, says Burnside moved South to day, and is now on his way to Winchester, meeting no enemy, but his cavalry have brought in a considerable number of stragglers. Our forces will occupy Winchester during the present week. It is believed that Burnside will overtake the rear guard of Longstreet and that a fight will ensue. Slocum's corps has been sent forward to support him. The entire Army of the Potomac will move across the river as soon as transportation for supplies can be secured.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29th.—On the first day of the present month the national debt was six hundred and twenty millions. This includes the entire circulation of every species of notes, and between seventy and eighty millions of debt contracted under the late Administration, but except claims for which no requisitions have been made. The claims adjusted and unadjusted cannot exceed twenty millions.

FORTRESS MONROE, Oct. 27th.—Confederate officers recently informed one of our officers that the obstructions formerly placed in the James river at Fort Darling had been removed.

LOUISVILLE, October 29th.—The Nashville Union of Saturday says: No apprehensions need be indulged for the safety of that city, and says rebels that have threatened the place for three months have always fled at the approach of the Federals.

At last accounts, John Morgan was at Elkton, Todd county, proceeding toward Russellville. It is not probable that he will make any demonstration against that place, as it is garrisoned by a strong Federal force.

Several prominent Secession sympathizers in this city have been notified that their residences will be taken for Government hospital purposes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—A riot occurred this morning at the Unfermented Bread Factory, the company having refused to deliver bread to Myrick, who had contracted to take all the bread made by the company at the rate of three and a half cents per loaf. POSTAGE CURRENCY.—We were shown last evening by Mr. Aaron Bushwiler, "a zealous Union man," two samples of the recent "postage currency" issued by act of Congress. The design is well executed and the little pieces of paper present quite a neat appearance, though they are too small to carry in pockets which have holes as ours has.

PERSONAL.—Hon. L. Jay S. Turney, Secretary of Washington Territory, and B. F. K[illegible], Esq., editor Overland Press, of Olympia, arrived in this city last evening.—Sec. Turney, we learn, is on route for Walla Walla and the upper Columbia country, on a tour for health and recreation. Mr. Kendall will remain in the city a few days.

BAZAAR.—The M. E. Church was well filled last night at the concert for the benefit of poor immigrants. We learn that the receipts amounted to over $150.

[illegible] Virginia Lawrence's benefit at the [illegible] was well attended, some two hundred [illegible] tickets having been sold.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—The City Council [illegible] night and transacted considerable [illegible], but we are not able to give in detail [illegible] the session held until a late hour. We will refer to certain matters in discussion [illegible] at length to-morrow.

PERSONAL ABUSE.—As before remarked by [illegible] the perpetual abuse which the editor of the [illegible] Statesman continues to pour upon [illegible] T. H. Pearne of this city is, to say the [illegible] very rancorous, and evinces a deadly [illegible] only cherished by those of a vicious and [illegible] disposition. Why Mr. Bush should [illegible] spite, and continue to spit forth such malice against Mr. Pearne, is a mystery [illegible]. He seems to take peculiar delight in [illegible] a large share of each issue of the [illegible] of late, in hurling against Mr. Pearne all the invectives and denunciatory expressions found in the vocabulary of the most [illegible] vilifier. But Bush has a notorious [illegible] things, which, we suppose, he is [illegible] will not lag or die out, and when [illegible] such a fellow through the columns of [illegible] he is worse than the seven year [illegible] there is no "let-up" to his abuse. [illegible] upon Mr. Pearne in the last Statesman [illegible] is truly the most virulent production from his pen that we have seen for many days, and has called forth the following communication [illegible] a gentleman whom we know to be equally as reliable as the person who furnished him (B.) with his text to start upon. [illegible] perhaps equally as hostile to Mr. Pearne as Bush is, had furnished the [illegible] with what purported to be a private [illegible] between Mr. Pearne and Mr. [illegible] which occurred in this city while [illegible] on his way to Washington. [illegible] other parties present who [illegible] conversation as well as Mr. Bush's [illegible] as the following will show:

PORTLAND, Nov. 5, 1862.

[illegible] editor of the Oregon Statesman gives a [illegible] statement of an interview between [illegible] and Bro. Harding. That there [illegible] conversation is true; but that it was [illegible] by the Statesman is not true, for [illegible] and the anonymous informer of the [illegible] did not. It may be of great interest [illegible] public to know that Bush and his strikers [illegible] Mr. Pearne a hypocrite.

[illegible] before now heard of men crying [illegible] to divert attention from themselves [illegible] Mr. P[illegible] for several years past [illegible] that he would not hurrah for Bush [illegible] of the Salem clique. It is [illegible] that he has fallen under the ban [illegible] I am no church member, [illegible] help being amused that Mr. Bush [illegible] undertake to dictate to the Church what [illegible] do with Mr. Pearne. Possibly the [illegible] as readily as Bush's strikers [illegible] I hardly believe it, for the [illegible] Conference passed a resolution [illegible] endorsing the course Mr. Pearne [illegible]

[illegible] ON THE REBELLION.—Prentice, in [illegible] boldness and energy in carrying [illegible] against the rebels, says:

"Every blow struck against the rebels is a blow to Great Britain, for the rebellion is the [illegible] child of that power, which sympathized with it in its infancy, guided its early steps, furnished it means, gave it comfort, and, [illegible] for craven fears and selfishness, would aid it with levies of soldiers. When we punish our rebels at home, we avenge ourselves upon our vindictive and mendacious [illegible] abroad. When we send our shafts to the hearts of those in arms to destroy our [illegible] the barbs rankle in the very vitals of those infamous defamers of our country who control the London Times and the [illegible] Herald. Strike, then, freemen of America, boldly and fearlessly, for your every blow cuts down two malignant enemies, and the sweep of your avenging sword reaches across the Atlantic Ocean."

PROMPT CHASTISEMENT OF THE INDIANS FOR MURDERS ON THE PLAINS.—GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 29.—Major McGarry, commanding California Volunteers, who was sent to the [illegible] by Colonel Connor, to chastise the Indians who murdered the immigrants this Fall, arrived at Fort Douglas, near this city, last night. Between Gravelly Ford and City of Rocks the Major captured 26 Indians. He held 24 of them as hostages, sending two back to bring in the Indians who committed the murders—informing the two that unless they returned within a certain number of days he would shoot the remaining 24. As the two did not return in the time specified, the 24 were taken out and shot.

THE Secretary of the Vermont State Agricultural Society says that the number of [illegible] in that State before the rebellion was fifty-five thousand, since which time nearly [illegible] thousand have been carried away for army purposes.

UNION SENTIMENT SOUTH.—It has well been said, that no valuable and available Union sentiment will be manifested in the rebel States until those who may be disposed to manifest it will see that they can do so without danger of rebel vengeance.

[illegible] Regular Monthly Meeting of [illegible] this (Tuesday) evening, at 7 o'clock.
RICHARD B. KNAPP, Sec'y.
Portland, Nov. 4th, 1862.

FIELD'S STEAMED OYSTERS!

MR. A. FIELD, whose Oysters have long enjoyed the highest reputation in this market, has recently invented an entirely new process of packing which possesses every advantage over the one hitherto employed. It so preserves the natural flavor, freshness and shape of the Oyster that they may be either Stewed, Fried, Scolloped or Fancy-Roasted—in fact cooked in any manner adapted to those just taken from the shell. They will not be broken into pieces by land travel, however lengthy, and will retain their sweetness, after the can is cut, longer than secured by any other method.

Shipments arrived and for sale by all the Grocery Jobbers in San Francisco.

SEWING MACHINES
ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION
—AND—
Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make a TIGHT LOCK-STITCH, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle; curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer; should stitch, fell, run and gather; and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk, above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, a ravel.

DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA.

It is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oil and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases: If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night; it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distress your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea, to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhoea, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe tooth-ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe the parts affected morning and night; at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut, or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

[illegible] Farmer

Shelter for Stock.

The rainy season is now fairly upon us. The cold driving storms of winter will drive the farmer at evening beneath his ample roof, and beside his broad fire place. And his cattle too, will strive to seek their warm and comfortable shelter. Has every farmer made sufficient preparation in this respect? It seems to us that the farmer can enjoy the comforts of his home in a far greater degree when he is assured that every creature in his care is as comfortably housed as he is himself, than they can while, through his negligence, they are undergoing the pitiless drivings of the storm. Nothing can be more cruel than inattention to the shelter and care of animals in the winter season.

Our winters are even more severe on unsheltered stock than those of the Atlantic States. There the temperature may be cold but most of the time it is dry, while here it is cold, damp and chilly. If a person had no other incentive than that of common humanity it would be sufficient to prompt him to make every endeavor toward making the stock under his care as comfortable as it was possible for them to be. But there is another and we fear with many a stronger, incentive, and yet one that appears to be almost lost sight of. We refer to the pecuniary gain in providing shelter for stock.

Our own judgment, as well as tried experiments, attest to the fact that cattle can be wintered on far less fodder when they have good warm shelter than they can when deprived of it. And the reason is plain and simple. A certain amount of heat is necessary to animal existence. If there are no artificial means used for preserving this, such as good, comfortable shelter, it will require more food in order to furnish it—Therefore the farmer should provide sufficient shelter for his flocks and herds for this reason if for no other.

We have seen poor dumb creatures suffering both from extremely short rations and a want of good shelter, until we would not have wondered if like Balaam's Ass they had opened their mouths and reproached their masters. Farmers, build good, broad, ample shelters for your stock. Shelter them well from the inclement weather, and then you, while beside your blazing hearth, will feel none of those silent but very uncomfortable twinges of conscience which the man must feel who neglects to shelter his stock.

Good Cider.

As it is now the season of cider making, it may perhaps not be out of place to make a suggestion or two as to the best manner of making good cider.

There is no more healthful beverage than good hard cider when properly made. But it is seldom that we find such an article. Too little pains is taken, and most of the cider used has a sharp vinegary flavor. In order to make good cider, there must be great pains taken. And the attention given will be amply repaid.

In the first place care should be observed in the selection of fruit. None but sound apples should be used, and these should be scrupulously clean and free from leaves.—After they are ground, the pomace should be allowed to stand several hours before being placed in the press. Every one has observed that a bruised apple gains in sweetness by some chemical change which occurs. So will the pomace. And to hasten this result, it should be occasionally stirred so that the air can pass freely through. After being pressed, the juice should pass through a strainer of such a kind as will entirely free it from particles of apples &c that may pass the press. It should then be placed in clean sweet barrels. To make them such after being thoroughly cleansed they should be fumigated. This can be effected by dipping a rag in melted sulphur, which after being set on fire, place it in the barrel, fastening one end by the bung so that it will burn entirely up. The barrel should then be filled full and removed to a cool cellar, where the bung should be removed while the fermentation is taking place.

When the fermentation has about ceased, which every one can ascertain, the cider is then clear. It should then be drawn out of the barrels and placed in clean ones, which should also be fumigated. These barrels must then be bunged up tight and kept in a cool cellar.

Care of Farming Implements.

Now, before our rainy season has fairly commenced, the farmer should take especial care that all of the implements which he has no use for during the winter season, are carefully sheltered from exposure, in order that they may be in as good condition when again needed as they were when laid aside. Too much care can not be given. In the hands of a careful farmer the same implement will last twice as long as it would in the hands of the thriftless and careless. It is too common a fault that allows the implements of the farm to suffer from want of care. A great loss is sustained when none need be.

Many farmers will leave their plows and harrows, their forks, hoes and rakes exposed to the elements, and then will grumble at the great expense which they have to bear in purchasing so many of the implements needed. Nor is the loss of the implements the only one that is sustained. For, likely as not, when the neglected plow is put to work next season, and from its abuse fails to please the farmer, or proves utterly worthless, a day or two of precious time is to be added to the loss of the implement. But the thrifty farmer knows no such vexation or loss. For having securely sheltered and fitly prepared his implements during the winter season, he can avail himself of every moment of time. His forethought and prudence shield him from vexation and delays.
